

Second Year, Literature.

2. Explain:—

- (a) erudition, (b) illiterate, (c) diary, (d) a well-to-do person,
- (e) all of a sudden, (f) on the whole, (g) indelible, (h) construction,
- (i) a connoisseur, (j) bluff-sounding.

Explain:—

- (a) to knock over off up, (k) to play hide and seek,
- (c) to coax one into good humor, (l) to sit below the salt,
- (e) to turn the tables, (p) to brace up one's nerves,
- (g) to lay a charge at a persons door, (h) to make both ends meet,
- (i) to be all over <sup>with</sup> a person, (j) to talk to all sorts of wild freaks.

3. Distinguish or identify:—

- a) I arrived in time to see it.
- b) I arrived there in no time.

- c) procrastination.
- d) prognostication.

- e) What are you at?
- f) What are you about?

g) His countenance fell.

h) His countenance gave blame.

- II. a) I will not go if you go all the world.
- b) My wish is all but an impossibility.
- c) To do anything sooner means <sup>to do</sup> nothing.
- d) Be off and beat again stark.

F. Those who think their own duty that they may perform their professional duties, do not know how to waste any of their own minutes, what are the disposal of their own time being.

II. He fell into a brown study, apparently taking no notice of the equalizing children around him. His sleep is quite quiet that he did not quite rest in the prospect which is all around him on all sides.

II. If not ill of your own is certain well liking, I should like to hear an ad vice from you. It does not seem to be very long as to it, but it is very important, is not it is very important to know the lowest and the highest of your own conscience from what it is not not afford much pleasure, you know.

Nov. 29 '99.

明治三十二年六月三学期試験問題