

II III A.B

- 8 1 a debonair bearing b a tumble-down sort of diligence & impunity
 d execrations e a prolific writer f trepidation
 g phlegmatic person h perfidious
- 2 a to tether a horse b to pay one's respects to a person c to lie in wait
 10 d to be best of an age e to give one the slip f to be outshone by a person
- 10 3 I have made no journey to which I look back with less pleasure.
 10 4 Perhaps it would have been more politic had I shaken the ruffian fair.
- 10 5 He took a pack of cards out of his pocket and I had only to see him shuffle to convince me that I had no novice to deal with.
 10 6 For these reasons I might, perhaps, had it not been for a certain diffidence, have claimed to be the most valuable officer in my own branch of the service.
- 10 7 Stolen fruits are said to be sweet; undeserved rewards are exquisite.
- 16 8 The air was raw and pointed, but not far below freezing;
 and the flakes were large, damp and adhesive. The whole city was sheeted up. An army might have marched from end to end and 17 not a footfall given the alarm.
- 9 Now that her first romantic admiration of ~~his~~ his lofty bearing had worn off, this inexperienced woman whose husband in mental and in moral stature was more than the ordinary height above her, was vexed to find that her little refinements of taste and sentiment were not instinctively responded to.
