

Living to the Purpose - No. 810 - 2 hrs. 22/11

Lesson II, J.

- | | | |
|-----------------------------|----------------------------------|---|
| I. (4) 1. Examine, | 1(1) 1. Exam, | (C) 1. Interdict, |
| 2. necessary, | 2. Exam, | 2. prosecution, |
| 3. vineyard, | 3. generate, | 3. Culmination, |
| 4. bar, | 4. essay, v., | 4. philanthropist, |
| 5. life. | 5. sip. | 5. procrastination. MS. Dictation & Translation. |
| II. (4) 1. Master piece, | 1(1) 1. A bit more, | (C) 1. Prides, boasts, |
| 2. idle industry, | 2. to put off, | 2. in 3 days, within 3 days, |
| 3. a man's length, | 3. to sigh for, | 3. to make way, to give way, |
| 4. without one's knowledge, | 4. to come into possession of, | 4. presence of mind, |
| 5. perspective and drawing. | 5. to be anything but something. | 5. absence of mind. |

- MS. II-3. Dictation & Translation
- (1) It might well wonder at it.
 - (2) Among others his skill in archery is too famous to be forgotten.
 - (3) To take an instance out of many, the late Johnson, F.R.S. and M.P. for Stratford is one of those who were "born mud and die marble".
 - (4) Large estates as well as necessities and comforts can never deprive a man not void of understanding of his useless riches.
 - (5) When attained, a sense of loss is experienced to the great surprise, and life becomes a round of weariness.
 - (6) If possessions can give more or less satisfaction, it is rarely so much the unlimited wealth at one's command, which is so often coveted, as the intellectual possessions, that lead one to the constant enjoyment of one's realization.
 - (7) Property, indeed, is no less than the fountain head of the necessity of labor and of maintenance of physical life, but the thingy self within you must feed on spiritual food and the dream as well.

