

LAW II. YK. ("Living to Purpose") 2nd Term '99.
2 hrs. - no dic.

	(Spell.)	(Mean.)
1. Naked, (pron)	Until,	1. abound,	18. mitigate,
2. Martyr; "	enough,	2. premature,	19. abortion,
3. Bear; (S pta)	truly,	3. precept,	20. drought,
(Trans.) Poor; (S pta)	species;	4. dungeon,	21. ooze.

Old as you are, you are still too young to despair.

Plead not thy dull intellect as an excuse for thy ignorance, because, provided thou hast the use of thy head and hands, there can be no knowledge, but is acquired by industry. — Diotima.

- 1. to be in need, to be in want,
- 2. to be in need, to be in want,
- 3. to be in need, to be in want,
- 4. to be in need, to be in want,
- 5. to be in need, to be in want,
- 6. to be in need, to be in want,
- 7. to be in need, to be in want,
- 8. to be in need, to be in want,
- 9. to be in need, to be in want,
- 10. to be in need, to be in want,
- 11. to be in need, to be in want,
- 12. to be in need, to be in want,
- 13. to be in need, to be in want,
- 14. to be in need, to be in want,
- 15. to be in need, to be in want,
- 16. to be in need, to be in want,
- 17. to be in need, to be in want,
- 18. to be in need, to be in want,
- 19. to be in need, to be in want,
- 20. to be in need, to be in want,
- 21. to be in need, to be in want,

E. (1) I have seen <sup>admitted</sup> many <sup>of</sup> the <sup>inventions</sup> of the <sup>mind</sup> <sup>to</sup> be <sup>very</sup> <sup>near</sup> <sup>to</sup> <sup>the</sup> <sup>real</sup> <sup>world</sup>.

(2) Let an examination be never so difficult, do not be cowed; the secret is to meet it with presence of mind.

(4) To be short of the necessaries of life is hard to bear, but for my own part to put to ruin is quite as hard, for I can help myself to elevate myself above the daily needs, were I not tripped & all powers.

(5) Leave mundane affairs to our mortal fellows, and, taking your flight occasionally, let your soul attain the highest heaven, surveying the wide prospects of the whole creation, where you would discourse in company with ethereal beings of eternal truths.

