PAULA: A SKETCH FROM LIFE.

By VICTORIA CROSS, Author of "Anna Lombard," etc.

"No book better worth reading has so far come under our notice in the present season."—Daily Chronicle."No woman has written better fiction than this for some time past, and I question whether any young writer of either sex has of late shown such remarkable power of insight."—Free Review.Manuals of Employment for Educated Women.

EDITED BY CHRISTABEL OSBORN.

The object of this series of manuals is to give to girls, more particularly to those belonging to the educated classes, who from inclination or necessity are looking forward to earning their own living, some assistance with reference to the choice of a profession, and to the best method of preparing for it when chosen.

NEW VOLUME.

Foolscap 8vo, Paper Cover, 1/-; Cloth, 1/6.

MEDICINE. By CHRISTABEL OSBORN.

This manual contains particulars of all the medical qualifications recognised by the General Medical Council which are open to women, and of the methods by which they can be obtained, with full details of the different Universities and Colleges at which women can pursue their medical studies, the cost of training and the time required for the purpose, with some hints as to the best method of starting in practice when trained. The manual also includes information as to the methods by which women can qualify to become dentists, chemists, and dispensers, and as to the openings for employment which may be found in these occupations.

The Contemporary Science Series.

EDITED BY HAVELOCK ELLIS.

TWO IMPORTANT NEW VOLUMES.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s.

THE STUDY OF RELIGION.

By MORRIS JASTROW, JUN., Ph.D., Professor in the University of Pennsylvania.

Professor Jastrow, who is Professor of Semitic Languages and Religions in the University of Pennsylvania, has in this volume traced the gradual modern developments of the scientific study of religion, discussing this study in its bearings on other related studies, and dealing with the scientific methods of carrying it on.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s With 12 Portraits.

HISTORY OF GEOLOGY AND PALÆONTOLOGY TO THE END OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.

By KARL VON ZITTEL, Professor of Geology and Palæontology in the University of Munich; Director of the Natural History Museum; President of the Bavarian Royal Academy of Science, etc. Translated by MARIE M. OGILVIE-GORDON, D.Sc. (London), Ph.D. (Munich).

This work, written by one of the most eminent of living geologists and palæontologists, was published two years ago in Germany, and is recognised as the most complete and authoritative history of geology. It is brought down to the end of the nineteenth century. The translation is by Mrs. Ogilvie-Gordon, D.Sc., Ph.D., and, with the author's advice and assistance, the work has been slightly abridged by the omission of the less generally interesting matter. The English edition is illustrated by portraits.

JUST ISSUED.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s. With 93 Illustrations.

THE MEDITERRANEAN RACE.

By PROFESSOR SERGI.

In this book, which is almost entirely new, and has been specially prepared by the author for the "Contemporary Science Series," Professor Sergi has presented the first full statement of the facts and views that—since he first brought them forward five years ago—have done so much to revolutionise the Aryan question. The evidence there contained tends to show that the race inhabiting Southern Europe and Northern Africa formerly occupied, and to some extent still occupies, the greater part of Central and Northern Europe, including the British Isles, and has played the chief part in European civilisation.

The Contemporary Science Series—continued.THIRD EDITION, REVISED AND ENLARGED.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s. With numerous Illustrations.

THE CRIMINAL.

By HAVELOCK ELLIS.

It is ten years since this book was first published, and the author has now revised it throughout and brought it up to date. On account of the activity with which the study of the criminal has been carried on during recent years, it has been found necessary to enlarge, and in some cases re-write, nearly every chapter in the book. A great deal of new material has thus been added. There are also over fifty new illustrations, mostly original.

FOURTH EDITION, COMPLETELY REVISED.

Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s. With numerous Illustrations.

THE EVOLUTION OF SEX.

By PROFESSORS PATRICK GEDDES AND J. ARTHUR THOMSON.

In this edition the volume has been brought up to date, the altered state of biological opinion since 1889 has been taken due account of, especially the modifications of Weismann's position, the number of references increased, sundry criticisms accepted, but the general thesis remains the same.

SECOND EDITION. Crown 8vo, Cloth, Price 6s

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RELIGION.

By PROFESSOR STARBUCK, Stanford University, California. With a Preface by PROFESSOR WILLIAM JAMES, of Harvard University.

"There is here, in the patient gathering and careful consideration of the subjective facts of religious life, the foundation of a new body of knowledge which will find its place in psychological science and bear practical fruit in religious education and in theology."—Psychological Review.

New Edition of Ibsen's Prose Dramas.

EDITED BY WILLIAM ARCHER.

In the new edition each play forms a volume by itself. The typographical features of the original Norwegian editions are as far as possible reproduced. The names of the characters are placed above their speeches instead of in the same line, thus giving the page a lighter and more attractive appearance. The volumes are of a size to range with Mr. Heinemann's editions of Ibsen's, Mr. Pinero's, and other plays; and each volume contains a frontispiece, representing, as a rule, one of the leading characters as embodied by a well-known actor or actress.

Royal 16mo, Paper Cover, 1s. 6d.; Cloth, 2s. 6d.

The Scott Library.

Crown 8vo, Cloth Elegant, Price 1s. 6d. per vol.

The Scott Library now numbers 116 volumes, and includes the greater number of the classics of English literature, also a large number of translations from the ancient classics, and of the masterpieces of modern Continental literature. Carefully printed from good plates on excellent paper, bound in green cloth with a graceful design in gilt, they are capital illustrations of what can be accomplished for those who desire the best at an extremely low price.

NEW VOLUMES.

ON LIBERTY.

By JOHN STUART MILL. With an Introduction by W. L. COURTNEY.

So long as individual initiative and effort are recognised as a vital element in English history, so long will Mill's Liberty, which he confesses was based on a suggestion derived from Von Humboldt, remain as an indispensable contribution to the speculations, and also to the health and sanity, of the world.

THE DISCOURSE ON METHOD, AND METAPHYSICAL MEDITATIONS OF RENÉ DESCARTES.

Translated, with an Introduction, by GERTRUDE BURFORD RAWLINGS.

This volume supplies the need for a cheap popular version of the great philosophical classic, the Discourse on Method, and its sequel, the Metaphysical Meditations. In the Discourse, which originally appeared in 1637, Descartes laid down for the first time a scientific method of directing the human reason in its search for accurate knowledge, and thereby opened a new epoch in the history of philosophy. The Meditations explain the metaphysics of the Discourse. The present edition is practically unannotated, and, save for an Introduction, the two works are left to speak for themselves.
